Syracuse, New York

Dear Mr. O'Hara:

Mr. Kirkpatrick tells me that he extended my regrets to you on the necessity for my abrupt withdrawal from your program at Lake Placid. I had looked forward eagerly to being with you but unhappily was derailed by too many non-concurrences on a paper I had been assigned to bird-dog through a conventional flap. Having once worked on the desks of several of your colleagues, I was especially disappointed in having been euchered out of this chance to meet them again. If ever you want another briefing for an upstate audience, try as a second time and I'll promise delivery.

Sincerely,

C. B. Hansen
